Americans Rout Englishmen In Golf Cup Play

Portlander Tied With Quint for First; Gardner Is Next; Britons Fourth.

SANDWICH, May 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—The St. George's challenge cup, one of the most important golf trophies in England, has been captured by the American invaders. Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, Ore., and Francis Oulmet of Boston, former American open champion, tied for first place in the two-days stroke competition which ended today with aggregate scores of 133 each. They will play 18 holes tomorrow to decide the winner.

Third place was captured by Robert A. Gardner, of Chicago, captain of the American team, thus making the victory of the invaders still more overwhelming. The American victory puts the St. George's cup into alien hands for the first time since its establishment thirty-five years ago. Actually the original cup, of solid gold and one of Britain's finest golf trophies, is not handed over, the winner getting a reproduction of it.

Over the same links on which the Americans won their success today Walter Hagen last year wrested the British open championship from a field of Britain's best. The first two Britishers in the last were Roger Wethered and James Craig, who tied for fourth place with 137. George V. Roman of Texas was fifth with a total of 139. J. Wright, of Los Angeles, had an aggregate of 151 and Jack Neville, of Oakland, turned in a score of 163. S. Davidson, Harrow, of Chicago, had a similar total, and Maxwell Marston of Philadelphia had a score of 164.

SANDWICH, England, May 3.—In a fit of temper, brought on by his indifferent playing, Jesse W. Sweetser, amateur golf champion of America, tore up his card for the final 18 holes of the St. George's challenge cup tournament and declined to divulge his score to anyone. It was an outburst comparable only with those occasionally indulged in by Bobby Jones, another famous American golfer.

Before the end of the round Sweetser had company, Cyril Tolley, being another notable to pass out of the spotlight. The former British amateur champion withdrew from the tournament after getting into a dispute with nearly every hole he played today. Tolley had a 79 yesterday.

Pan-American Arms Conference Failure

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 3.—(By United Press.)—The Pan-American arms limitation conference, closed this afternoon, having failed flatly in its object, for which it was called.

Ambassador to Belgium Fletcher, head of the United States delegation to the party, presented a report on behalf of the commission on armaments, the other members having declined to do so. The report in mild terms deplores war and "armed peace" and recommends adherence to the clauses of the Washington treaty of February, 1922, against submarine war on merchant shipping and the use of poison gases.

ALAMEDA'S FAVOR TIME ON BASE SITE

Increased Evidence of Solid Support of Secretary of Navy's Plea for Extension of Grant to U. S. Is Shown.

Representative of S. F. Chamber of Commerce Says Los Angeles Backs Bay Site; Leaders Tell of Sentiment

ALAMEDA, May 3.—Increased evidence of a solid support in Alameda to the proposal to extend the city's grant of title to the government is noticeable since the publication of the letter from Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, to Mayor Frank Otis. The letter asked for an extension of time for government acceptance of the naval base site.

There is a feeling that in view of the earnest request of the navy department, and of the offer having once been made, the extension of time should go through, particularly when the request comes from the head of the navy, and can leave no doubt of that department's intent or desire.

"The navy department most earnestly requests the extension of the time limit," Secretary Denby wired, "and in view of the unbroken line of reports from naval base experts and the Joint Congressional committee, hopes that some affirmative action may yet come from the next session."

ANONYMOUS FIGHT BACKERS NOT TRACED

Another development which has resulted in an increased favorable sentiment to the proposal is the mysterious opposition which has arisen and which, up to date, has been anonymous. A page advertisement, appearing in a local newspaper, was signed "Taxpayers' League" with no names attached. Circulars issued have been, signed in the same manner, but today no one has been able to ascertain who constitute the "Taxpayers' League," whether such an organization is in existence at all and who the individuals are who are backing the anonymous fight. There are strong rumors that the opposition is financed from Vallejo. Although this charge is openly made, it is likewise true that no direct evidence has been produced.

It is being pointed out in Alameda today that the law requires that signatures must be attached to political circulars and advertising, in the meantime the question which is being asked is, who is providing the "business of war" for the anonymous fight to induce the city of Alameda to refuse the request of the United States government on the extension of time for acceptance of a naval base site?

ALAMEDA BASE SITE

That Los Angeles is behind Alameda in its fight for the naval base and that the Chamber of Commerce there recently adopted a resolution approving that site, was the statement of Louis H. Hass, in an address before the Alameda County Committee's club at yesterday's luncheon in San Francisco. Hass is Washington representative of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

He said that the location of the Naval Base at Alameda is of supreme importance to the Pacific coast, and that the sentiment of the entire west, with the possible exception of the city of Vallejo, is crystallized in favor of it. He said that the sentiment of the entire west, with the possible exception of the city of Vallejo, is crystallized in favor of it.

Grand Jury Urged to Probe Mount Death

CHICAGO, May 3.—(By United Press.)—A grand jury investigation into the death of Leighton Mount, Northwestern university freshman, whose skeleton was found in a Lake Michigan pier, was practically assured today. The university trustees adopted resolutions joining J. L. Mount, father of the boy alleged to have been slain, in a hazing episode, in demanding such a probe. The trustees were also said to have discussed a $5000 reward for those responsible for killing Mount and securing the body nearly twenty months ago.

Army Airmen "Hop" From New York To San Diego in Non-Stop Flight; 26 Hours, 50 Minutes for Distance

NEW WORLD RECORD SET IN AVIATION

100 Miles Per Hour Averaged Through 2600-Mile Trip; Perfect Performance for Liberty Motor

Pilot Jumps From Machine to Clasp Fiancee in Arms; Flyers Given Tremendous Ovation On Their Arrival

LOS ANGELES, May 3.—A mother's pride and confidence were rewarded today when The Associated Press conveyed to Mrs. B. MacReady here the flash that the airplane piloted by her son, Lieutenant John A. MacReady, and his companion, Lieutenant Oakley G. Kelly, reached San Diego.

"We were confident that he would make it," she said.

ROCKWELL FIELD, San Diego, May 3.—(By International News Service.)—Spanning the entire North American continent without a single stop, the army transport monoplane T-2 landed here this afternoon. The flight will go down in history as one of the greatest ever made, taking rank with the epochal trans-Atlantic flights of Captain Alcock and the American navy N-1 planes four years ago.

The flyers left New York at 1:27 p. m. Eastern time yesterday and arrived in San Diego at 12:26:56 2-5 Pacific time today, making the elapsed time 26 hours, 50 minutes, 48 2-5 seconds. The monoplane broke its own world's long distance flight record by several hundred miles, the former record having been hung on an attempted eastward coast-to-coast non-stop flight last winter, which fell a few hundred miles short of the Atlantic goal. The distance covered during the present flight was approximately 2600 miles.

AVERAGE SPEED ABOUT 100 MILES AN HOUR.

The average speed for the trip was about 100 miles an hour. As the 250-horsepower Liberty motor drove the monoplane westward, during the top weight of gasoline, the speed was increased from 90 miles an hour to upwards of 110 on the level stretches and the downward stretches from the mountain ranges.

AVIATOR CLASPS WAITING FIANCEE IN HIS ARMS.

Lieutenant Oakley G. Kelly, surprisingly fresh after his long journey, was first to come down from the towering fuselage as the monoplane came to a stop. With a wave of his hand and a shout of greeting to the big crowd of friends and flying enthusiasts, Kelly, who had alternated with MacReady at the controls in 8-hour shifts, stepped forward to meet and clasp in his arms Miss Mary Watson, his fiancée.

"Soon one more for the army transport," Kelly said, "and I shall be a happy husband." Kelly, who was greeted by Major H. H. Arnold, commandant of the field.

"PERFECT PERFORMANCE FOR LIBERTY MOTOR."

"Chalk up another perfect performance for the improved Liberty motor," smiled MacReady, as he was being welcomed by his parents, who had come down from their home at Rockwell field.

BUSINESS AT STANDSTILL AS AVIATORS ARRIVE.

SAN DIEGO, May 3.—(United Press.)—Business was at a standstill today during the hour preceding the arrival of Lieutenants MacReady and Kelly after their non-stop flight from New York. The greatest excitement prevailed and the streets were thronged with thousands who talked of nothing but the cross-country flight.

Spectators who thronged the flying field cheered lustily and waved cheerily to the birdmen above them. Whistles and air horns shrieked and bells were rung lustily. The crowd at the flying field came to a stop. They were congratulated by Captains.

GIRLS ESCAPE IN OPIUM DEN RAID

CHICAGO, May 3.—(By International News Service.)—Five girls, all mere children, occupied when police broke down the door of an apartment forgy with smoke and a dreamy scent today, arrested the alleged proprietor and confiscated cans of morphine and cocaine.

The raiders reported hearing snatches of song, laughter and revelry just before their entry. The girls escaped through another door of the luxuriously furnished "gold den" apartment.

The appointments were of carved wood, silks and rich rugs. There was a bar, a table with mother of pearl inlaid, and a variety of paraphernalia. Letters bearing a variety of postmarks were found. Some were in code. One lamented: "Wish we could cut out the C. It's the cause of all our troubles." PARIS TURNS DOWN NEW BERLIN PLAN

French Cabinet Unanimous in Rejecting Germans' Offer of $7,500,000,000; Belgium Govt. Will Follow

Washington Policy Is Unchanged; Note Flayed by London Press; Cuno Avers Refusal Means Destruction

By WEBB MILLER.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
PARIS, May 3.—The French cabinet voted unanimously today to reject the German offer for settlement of reparations made yesterday in a note to all the allies. The offer was for 25,000,000,000 gold marks, or approximately $7,500,000,000.

Premier Poincare denounced the German proposal as unacceptable. President Millerand presided. Belgium is expected to also reject the proposals.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—There is nothing in Germany's new reparations offer that calls for any change in the American policy or "friendly aloofness" toward the whole Franco-German controversy, it was said in official circles here today after examination of Berlin's latest peace move.

LONDON PAPERS SCORE BERLIN'S NEW PROPOSAL.

LONDON, May 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Times, in an editorial, characterized the German note as stupidly worded, giving only the vaguest guarantees, and so clumsily presented as to irritate every French susceptibility. The Daily Mail says: "For sheer effrontery it would be hard to match the note; the French will not be caught in such a trap as this. In judging this insolent offer it must be remembered that Germany is spending vast sums which ought to go to the Allies on armaments and public works while whining out protests about 'her poverty.'"

The Post says: "It has not even the merit of novelty; it is a mass of stale rejected ingredients—an unwholesome dish."

CONTINUE RESISTANCE, TEUTON PRESS URGES.

BERLIN, May 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Commenting on the reparations note, the Tagblatt says it enables the powers to come to a round table conference with Germany.

The monarchist and nationalist newspapers regard the note as disappointing, and the point on which the newspapers are unanimous is that passive resistance in the Ruhr must and will be continued until an agreement is reached.

In referring the proposals, Chancellor Cuno, it became known today asserted that Germany "is ready to end the present period of destruction, but is also ready to hold out to the last gasp, which

YOUTH PROVES
BRAVERY DURING SCHOOL BLAZE

Attention was called today to the brave department of Vernon Loveland, a pupil of the seventh grade at the Hawthorne school, during the fire which partially destroyed the school building Monday. His coolness was illustrated by the benefit of the annual instruction in fire discipline given the school children by the Oakland fire department during "fire prevention week."

"The youth was in a class room on the third floor of the building, according to teachers, when the fire was discovered. He gathered up all the musical instruments he could carry in his arms and dashed to the first floor to notify the principal. Not the boy went to an adjoining classroom and quietly told the teacher of the imminent danger. After turning in the signal for a fire drill, young Loveland hurried to the nearest alarm box and summoned the fire department."

POLICE OFFICER

OF INTIMIDATION

Declares Lieutenant Said He Would "Break" S. F. Sergeant.

San Francisco, May 3.—Federal and police investigation is being made today into charges by Sergeant Maurice J. O'Callaghan of the police department that Police Lieutenant Richard R. Foley, of the North End station, threatened to "break" him if O'Callaghan's son takes the witness stand to testify against Pete and Tom McDonough, half-brother and sister, who are charged with bootlegging.

"I'll break you in the police department and your boy will be prosecuted for perjury, if he testifies," is the threat which Sergeant O'Callaghan says was made to him by Foley.

According to the police sergeant the threat by his superior was made last night, on the eve of the McDonough brothers' trial. Police Lieutenant Foley is an intimate friend of the McDonough brothers. Maurice J. O'Callaghan Jr. is the nephew of the McDonoughs, was raised and a quantity of liquor seized.

Charges will be filed against Foley at once, Theodore Roche, president of the police commission, said today, and the lieutenant will be tried before that body.

Sergeant O'Callaghan, who for many years has been a respected member of the police force and night sergeant of the North End station, told his story directly to President Roche, who in turn transmitted the information to Police Chief Daniel O'Brien.

"Lieutenant Foley came to me," said the police sergeant, "and said: 'You are the father of Maurice J. O'Callaghan Jr., the prohibition agent upon whose affidavit Rice's house was raided. I want you to get that affidavit. All these prohibition agents are ——. If your son testifies against Rice or against the McDonoughs, I'll break you in the police department just as easy as I snap my fingers, and your son will be prosecuted for perjury.'"

"HEY-GREETINGS!" CRY AVIATORS ON ARRIVAL. "Hey-greetings!" cried Kelly and MacReady as they crawled out of their plane, unassisted and were carried over to an automobile on the shoulders of the waiting crowd. The boys were nearly deaf from the roar of the motor on their flight.

Their arms were filled with flowers by the eager grangers. Pretty girls, Rockwell Field officers, Chamber of Commerce officials and members of various civic organizations fought a score of newspaper photographers, reporters and moving picture men for a chance to speak with the famous aviators.

Their attention was so distracted by the on-pressing crowds grabbing their hands the two world famous flyers were unable to speak or give any statement to anyone for fully 15 minutes.

"TERRIBLY HARD TRIP," LIEUT. MACREADY SAYS. MacReady attempted to explain their flight. All he was able to say was: "It was a terribly hard trip. We had a wonderful tail wind part of the distance."

"We couldn't hear it," said MacReady, "but when we looked down and saw the crowd, we knew that there was a warm welcome there for us."

Women Practising Sirens for Contests At San Jose Next Week

That's what they yelled for the Manheim and Mazer team of women bowlers last night at the Orpheum bowling alleys. That's the way the cheers will go next week at San Jose when the Pacific Coast Bowling Congress meets for a bowling tournament. When the Eastbay Handicap League goes to San Jose, the Manheim and Mazer team, formerly the "Picked Stars" will be in 100 per cent form and Mrs. Birdie Humphreys, of St. Louis, world's bowling champion, will have to look to her laurels.

This Oakland women's bowling organization has been in working order for about ten weeks and five weeks of the tournament have been played off. There are five more weeks to go and the games take place every Tuesday evening. Mrs. Mas Deam is captain of the Manheim and Mazer team and those who play are: Mrs. Hopping, Mrs. Marion Elford, Mrs. Olive Manegie, Miss Alice Reuter and Mrs. Marie Kehoe. Mrs. Manegie has the highest bowling score in the tournament having bowled 225.

The team had been tied for second place in the league but Tuesday night's game has put them third having lost three points. A men's team won the first game of the evening and the women the second but the third was won again by the men.

"It is serious play with us," says Mrs. Beate, the captain, "and we are going to go to San Jose with the determination to put all we have into the game. We've been playing such a short time, but you'll notice my players seldom make a play that is not a spare or a strike. We play here every evening except Tuesday, and on Friday evening of each week we play a regular game with the men's team. If more Oakland women knew what a jolly and beneficial sport bowling is I think there would be more playing."

Ten teams of women bowlers will complete in Oakland the Pacific Coast congress tournament on May 9 and 10.

SIGNS HELP KEEP PARKING RULES
IN MIND

SAN LEANDRO, May 3.—Delivery of signs calling attention to restricted parking along East Fourteenth street and portions of Washington avenue, in the center of the San Leandro business section, is being rushed by local officials, in order to enforce an ordinance adopted by the board of trustees. The ordinance provides for forty minute parking of automobiles, with trucks allowed only enough time to load or unload. The ruling, although in force for about the last three months could not be enforced because of the inability of the sign manufacturing company to deliver their finished products.

With the approach of summer and the consequent increase of traffic, restrictive and regulating necessity.

RUSSIAN RELIGION IS DYING UNDER SOVIET PRESSURE

Reds Foster "Living Church" Movement, But As Political Scheme.

By FRANCIS McCULLAGH.
Special Cable to The Oakland Tribune.
WARSAW, via Berlin, May 3.—The "living church" movement is nominally a reformist movement within the Russian Orthodox church, but really a political move inaugurated by the Bolsheviks and directed by a group of clerical opportunists, none with any deep religious feeling, some former spies of the Czecha, and all hating the Patriarch on personal if not theological grounds.

It has nothing in common with the Protestant reformation, Calvinism or Puritanism, which derived their driving force from men with the strongest religious conviction; and nothing good can be expected from it, though indirectly it may do good by separating and purifying the old Russian Church, and forcing the Russians to examine seriously the foundations of their faith, which were accepted previously without such examination.

Already it is leading many Russians to join western communions, which is bad for atheism, as those communions are tougher and more virile, less accustomed to turn the other cheek, whereas orthodoxy, damaged by servility to czarism, is passive and Oriental.

Hence Europe's and America's slight interest in the murder of more than 1,000 Russian priests in the last five years. But the murder of Russian Baptists and Catholics and Jews, and others, is sure to anger powerful religious bodies outside, as the Jewish pogroms in czarist times aroused outside hatreds, which infinitely harmed czarism.

HANDICAP TO CATHOLICISM.
Baptist and Evangelical movements, especially in Petrograd, have been extraordinarily successful. The Catholic movement loses strength by being associated with the Poles, who, for nationalist reasons, hate Russia so that in ordinary Russian speech the words Catholic and Polish are synonymous. The Vatican is changing all this and is considering a scheme for sending foreign priests to Polish citizens in Russia. Probably many Americanized Polish clergymen will be invited to volunteer.

The Catholic diocese of New York probably will be asked to adopt St. Catherine's church in Petrograd, where Archbishop Zenkovich and Vicar-General Butchavitch officiated, but which is now closed, just as devastated French towns have been adopted by French and American cities. Other American dioceses, similarly, will adopt other Catholic churches in Russia. Doubtless the American Baptists and other cults will pursue the same policy, which will link Russia spiritually with America as they never before have been linked.

THE UNIAI CHURCH.
Moreover, the Vatican is pushing the Unia Church, that is, the Russian Church, with the Russian language and ritual and a married clergy, but acknowledging the Pope. Federoff, who was condemned to ten years' imprisonment at the Moscow trials, was the head of the Unia Church, which gained many adherents, especially in the Ukraine, and at Petrograd it held two services every Sunday in St. Catherine's church, attracting a small congregation.

It opened a church in Moscow, served by a former Orthodox priest, but this was closed by the Bolsheviks. In Rome it recently opened the "Eastern Institute" for the education of priests in the Russian rite. The institute is under the direction of Father Diering, a French Jesuit specializing on Russia and author of a book called "The Russian Newmen."

In Siberia the Baptists are numerous, their huge "prayer houses" a striking feature of every large town. The "old believers" and other dissenters, formerly oppressed by the Russian official church, are now free and active, but very medieval, tending back toward feudalism of former times. All these, the orthodox church still includes the vast majority of Russian Christians.

NO DRIVING FORCE.
The "living church" has not a religious driving force, and can lead only to atheism. It originated when the Soviet came into conflict with the Patriarch over the question of church treasures to promote famine relief. Patriarch Tikhon already has promised to give all treasures save the altar.

Indeed, he formed a committee of churchmen and laymen for that purpose. This committee informed the Soviet of their readiness to contribute the treasure, save the plate, which would be paid for in cash by the faithful at the Soviet's collection. This communication was ignored by the Soviet, which act exactly as when the Vatican offered Tikhon money to the value of the Catholic church's treasure.

The Soviet angrily dissolved the church committee and organized a bogus deputation of peasants from the famine region to appeal to the head of the Moscow Soviet, a Jew, to decree the confiscation of treasures. Leo Kamenetz gladly acceded and a harsh dictatorial decree was issued.

The Soviet's object was not to raise money so much as to place the church in a false position, set a good propaganda cry against it, and smash it. The Bolsheviks profoundly hating the church, which they regarded as the Soviet's greatest enemy. The cry was: "The church refuses to part with its riches to feed the hungry," and has been used continuously since in newspaper, speeches and all forms of propaganda.

CUNNING RED MOVE.
The Reds have shown the utmost cunning throughout and were economically helped in having all the press and publicity agencies in their hands, while the Patriarch, slow, pious and unworshipful, was handicapped in being under arrest, unable to present his side of the case, or communicate with his bishops, his clergy and his people.

Under Patriarch Tikhon's direction the church council issued a decree opposing confiscation, but the police and soldiers rapidly enforced the Red edict everywhere, at the same time smashing church furniture and icons, shooting into crowds who resisted and arresting throughout the country many priests, some of whom were afterward executed or imprisoned. So sharpened by long years of dedicating the police throughout the world before the revolution, blaming the clergy for disturbances and loss of life caused by the Bolsheviks, the Soviet arrested the Patriarch and Archbishop Nikanor of Moscow, together with several bishops, and the church was left in a state of confusion.

An unsatisfactory account was given in return as to how the official seizure of church treasures helped famine sufferers.

GERMAN-SOVIET UNITY IS POTENT ISSUE IN WORLD

Novelist Weaving European Conditions Into Book of Warnings, Prophecy.

Europe, a twentieth-century civilization functioning with a modern scientific brain, yet reduced to a veritable bag of primordial existence, holds, in the evolution of a new society, a wonderful new future for the world or an abyssal period of universal desolation. So thinks Ellas Tobenken, author, traveler and student of mankind.

The variegated social and political skeins of Europe are being woven into a novel by Tobenken, who is residing at 3144 Grove street. Some of the views of the writer have already been published in three novels, "The Road," "White Arrows" and "The House of Conrad."

SAW EUROPE FIRST HAND.
Tobenken, as European correspondent for several New York publications, has observed the formation of the new order in the crucible. His business, since Europe was thrown into chaos, has been the acquisition of social, political and economic facts. This he was able to do through interviews with the men guiding the destinies of the various European nations, through conversation with the merchants of Hamburg and Danzig, as an eye witness of the positions of Europe as an observer at conferences of new states, or another in The Hague or Paris, and as a student and observer of peoples and events.

"Financial institutions in the heart of Europe have been so completely disrupted that the people have no more faith in credits and the various ramifications of finance," asserted Tobenken, "and the result of these two influences is the reduction of the social scale."

to a plane analogous to that obtaining at the dawn of civilization. The masses are plying ahead with the one idea of ministering to their personal wants, without concern for any of the political institutions of a new world.

While Europe has been brought to this primitive state of politics and economy, it is motivated by an intelligence of highly specialized degree, according to Tobenken, and the product growing out of this adaptation of modern knowledge to primary conditions will be of maximum importance.

The most important political situation in the world today, the writer asserts, is the growing animosity of Germany and Russia. The union now being tempered by the intelligence of Germany, and strengthened with the resources of men and material of Russia is one with which the nations of the world will have to deal in a future day, said he.

In this connection he believes that the United States is overlooking a great opportunity in not resuming trade relations with Russia. Other strong views held by Tobenken are that Germany can stop the reparations notes, most of them at any rate, if she is of a mind to that world courts, leagues of nations or other political combinations are seeking the big question of the day and that the United States is not faced by the peoples of Europe, either because of inside of its wealth.

FINANCING WATER DISTRICT IS HELD TO BE FEASIBLE

Project Regarded by Speakers As Not Difficult for Eastbay Cities.

A vigorous campaign to impress upon voters the fact that next Tuesday's water district election is not an election to bond the district, is announced by the water district committee. Emphasis will also be placed on the fact that financing of this big project by the nine cities on the east side of the bay is feasible and can be handled at lower costs than the same financing by a private corporation.

It was said that members of the speakers' bureau and campaign workers will be especially diligent in answering arguments and misunderstandings that might arise to defeat the project. The committee will make a strong point of the fact that while a big bond issue to finance a water supply would naturally make a slight increase in tax rate, the reduction of which tax rate, the reduction which may be expected in water rates under municipal ownership will more than offset this.

"There is no use claiming that we can issue bonds for a project of this nature without finding it reflected in the tax rate," said Francis Jones, campaign chairman. "But if the water company finances the new water supply we may reasonably expect to find it in our water bills. Municipal ownership will save us money in the immediate future."

SPEAKERS ARE BUSY.
Speakers for the water district campaign are appearing at meetings every afternoon and evening to carry the message of the proposed district. Francis J. Fox said today:

"The progress and prosperity of the Eastbay cities is dependent upon their water supply. For without pure water supply, cheap rates and in increasing amounts no community may thrive, or even hope to compete with other communities and cities thus prospering. It is conceded that the limit of industrial growth of the Eastbay communities may be reached possibly by 1925, but certainly by 1930, unless immediate provision is made for adequate cheap water.

"These conditions are based upon the present rate of increase in population, establishing of new industries, the greater demand for water due to a higher standard of living, coupled with the fact that the company now supplying the water will have developed their properties to their utmost by 1930. "Mountain water must be brought in. This work may be done either by public enterprise or by private enterprise. If the public finally pays all construction costs in the form of water rates. If built by private enterprise, the plant, equipment, pipe-lines, etc., become the property of private enterprise, although it is built by the public. It is publicly owned when paid for by such consumers who are also the public. By our votes on May 8 we shall decide whether the public itself will undertake, or believe that property paid for by the consuming public should be owned by the public. Under this act none but a revenue producing utility may be acquired or operated by the district. Also, no revenue producing utility may be acquired or contracted for unless first approved by the vote of a majority of the electors.

"The utility which prompts the creation of the proposed district is that of water, and it will be the duty of the directors of the district to procure and place on file plans and estimates of the cost of obtaining a supply of good, pure water, sufficient to meet the demands of a growing community, from such sources as the board of directors upon investigation may find to be available and feasible.

"No bond issue is asked for at this election. It is first sought to determine the people's choice between privately owned and publicly owned water works—in either case

HERRICK, of Oklahoma, who attracted attention by his eccentric behavior and frank speeches while in Congress, is under arrest for disorderly conduct.

EX-CONGRESSMAN BATTLES POLICE

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Former Congressman Manuel Herrick, of Oklahoma, the self-styled "Aerial Daredevil" of Congress, was in the toils of the law today.

Herrick was arrested on a downtown street corner last night charged with disorderly conduct and annoying Miss Ethel M. Crane. When searched at headquarters, the ex-congressman had a list containing the names of several women.

"Terrific" were penciled after their names. A high powered bottle of perfume also was revealed by the search of his person.

The arrest was made with considerable difficulty, and Herrick was taken to the station house. He asserted he was a private detective and was investigating "white slave" cases. He also claimed congressional immunity from arrest.

Issues Outlined to Housewives' League

ALAMEDA, May 3.—At a civic meeting held in American Legion hall, Park street, this afternoon by the Alameda Housewives' League, three issues to come before the voters at the election May 8 were discussed by various speakers.

Lewis B. Haas of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, urged extension of the naval base lease to the United States government. William J. Locke, city attorney of Alameda, discussed the formation of a water utility district, and E. E. McKee, city manager, spoke on the construction of a tube under the estuary connecting Alameda and Oakland. Mrs. Kate Hoover, president, presided.

FRAUD SUIT FILED

When sold a house in the Forest Hill section of San Francisco last October Henry W. Johnson represented it was in good condition while in fact it was improperly built, causing the walls to buckle, charges Thomas Reagan in a suit asking $2200 damages. The suit was transferred from San Francisco to Alameda county and Reagan's representations.

paid for finally by water consumers in the form of water rates. If the district is organized the directors are to make a thorough investigation of all water supply sources, submit their findings and make the vote of a majority of the electors the basis of their action.

"There is no city of consequence in the United States, save and except the city of Oakland, but which now owns or is completing her own water works. There are but two cities, also, in addition to Oakland, whose water consumers pay tribute to a privately owned public utility on the score of its willingness to serve."

MERCHANTS GIVE ENDORSEMENT TO ESTUARY TUBE

$2,000,000 in Development Work of Alaska Packers Fails if Bridge Wins.

Unanimous endorsement of the proposed tube between Oakland and Alameda was given at a special meeting of the Merchants' Exchange, following addresses by Lochie King and Charles F. Wilson. King, connected with the state board of harbor commissioners and Wilson is manager of the "Tube-the-Estuary" campaign. Both urged voters to pass favorably on the bond issue for the tube next Tuesday and the directors of the exchange echoed their sentiments.

King declared that the Alaska Packers' Association is ready with plans for a development costing several millions of dollars and with more than 15,000 feet of berthing space for ships in the upper estuary and that they will let the contract the moment the bond issue passes. If the bond issue is defeated the project will not be carried through, because a feasible bridge will prevent the passage of large ships up and down the estuary, he declared.

King called attention to the fact that bridges across the channel will provide only a 200-foot opening and that it is the unanimous verdict of shipping companies that they will never send their largest ships through so small an opening. He said the plans of the Alaska Packers for their big cannery plant and terminal had been completed and that details will be announced in a few days.

SUPREMACY THREATENED

Wilson called attention to the fact that during the last month of the year, for the first time since San Francisco bay in the matter of tonnage and said steps should be taken to see that this port holds its Pacific Coast supremacy. He declared a tube in the inner harbor is the first step toward that end and toward complete development of the inner harbor.

"It will not do for us to live any longer in a false paradise," he said. "On the San Francisco side of the bay we have a great port developed under the auspices of the state, but that port lacks rail connections.

"On the east side of the bay we have the terminal of great transcontinental lines, but we lack harbor development. And we shall

You think of Montclair as the district along the Moraga road, because that section is where hundreds of people have bought.

It is the place where hundreds of new homes will soon be built.

But it is not the only part of Montclair available.

The section lying closest to the heart of Oakland—right on this side of the hills—is nearer than Fruitvale avenue to the City Hall.

Lots in this section are a good size—half acre in area. Yet you can buy them for less than the small city lots a few blocks away.

Think of the increase in value that will come with Oakland growth! See these lots and price them.

DIRECTIONS—To reach the tract office which is open every day, drive out Moraga road or Park boulevard. Or transfer from the street car to Montclair bus at 40th and Piedmont. A telephone call to Lake. 1600 will bring a representative to show you the tract, if you wish.

PRIZE OFFERED FOR GOOD NAME FOR ASSOCIATION

"Fiesta" Society Wants a Snappy Lognomon to Reflect Its Objects.

Just what can you do in coining a good, snappy, message-carrying name?

If you have the knack and hit it right there is $300 in cash for you and an honorary membership in the new Oakland Festival Association, organized for the purpose of staging an annual Oakland festival on the same magnitude and scale as that of the Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans, the Ak-Sar-Ben of Omaha, the Velled Prophet of St. Louis and the Fiestas of Painesville, Ohio.

The idea for the event took shape during the winter months after "Welcome to Oakland Week." An investigation of the Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha and festivals held in other cities brought the information that these festivals brought national publicity to the cities. As a result each of the cities staging such spectacles were found to enjoy an immediate influx of new residents.

An organization consisting of virtually every business man in the city was formed under the tentative title of the Oakland Festival Association. Objection was made to this name on the ground that it did not reflect the magnitude of the project and that it was lacking in imaginative appeal. The contest was, therefore, decided upon as a method of securing a name. Names should be sent to George Cummings, Oakland Festival Association, fourth floor Henshaw building, Oakland, and should be submitted before May 15.

The first spectacle to be staged by the new organization will take place on Lake Merritt in September and will be called "Laguna Fiesta."

Alameda has more than 15,000 child wives, of which 14,000 are married to men who are in prison or in the hospital.

DEPUTY SHERIFF INSISTS THAT HE CAN MAKE GOLD

T. G. R. Cockings of Los Angeles Already Has Beaten Alchemists.

LOS ANGELES, May 3.—Reports from Paris to the Sorbonne faculty that Jolivet Castet, famous alchemist, has discovered the secret of making synthetic gold, mean nothing to Deputy Sheriff T. G. R. Cockings, who claims that he has been making gold from silver nitrate for 30 years.

Back in 1893, Cockings said recently, he became interested in the quest that had arrested the attention of chemists for countless years—the search for a chemical compound which will convert a cheaper metal into gold. While attending the World's Fair at Chicago several years ago, a young newspaper woman noticed his aid in deciphering some ancient tomes from Italy, in which the making of gold was discussed.

Cockings said his imagination was enthused by the possibilities of untold riches unfolded by the old documents, and, with a friend, he began experiments at Newport, Kentucky. After twenty-three months of arduous labor they managed to produce a tiny bit of gold, Cockings says. Later, Cockings said, he came to California and has furthered his experiments in his private laboratory, near Glendale, a suburb to Los Angeles. During his years of experiments, Cockings claims he has succeeded in producing a metal testing $25,000 in gold to the ton, but the baffling irregularity of the results from his experiments have not so far made his work of any great commercial value.

"But I'll make pure gold yet—if I live long enough," he said. "Old Mother Earth makes gold, with the assistance of terrific heats and gasses and fumes, and I'll produce gold, too."

CLUBWOMEN TO FIGHT NARCOTICS

ATLANTA, May 3.—(By Associated Press.)—The General Federation of Women's Clubs, when it convenes in this city May 7-11, will take up, among other things, the question of a campaign against the sale of narcotics throughout the country.

It is declared by an official of the federation that the women will join hands with the Anti-Narcotic League in launching a national campaign against the drug evil. An endeavor will be made to secure the cooperation of every member of the federation in the work which the "committee to publish facts" already has in hand. This committee consists of Dr. E. B. von Kleinsmid, president of the University of California; Judge Benjamin F. Bulech, of the Twelfth Federal district; Harold Lloyd, film star comedian; J. D. Oakes, Los Angeles chief of police; J. P. Carter, former collector of the United States revenue department; Brigadier C. R. Boyd, of the Salvation Army; and others.

DOPE HABIT IS CALLED CUBA'S CHIEF MENACE

NEW YORK, May 3.—The prohibition has not constituted a police problem, Miguel Douce de Estrada, police commissioner of Havana, has reported to the international police conference today.

"The greatest menace facing Cuba," he said, "is from European men and women of the lowest class who have introduced the drug habit. Steps are being taken to bring about the deportation of nearly 70,000 of these, and the conference decided."

GAS REPLACING HORSE AT PLOW

STOCKHOLM, May 3.—(By Associated Press.)—Plowing by the use of gasoline or electric motors, instead of horses, was the main subject of discussion at the recent annual meeting of the Swedish Agricultural Society. It was announced that fewer than 170 motor tractors, representing a total value of $4,000,000, are at present used by Swedish farmers.

An interesting innovation in Swedish farming, also discussed at this meeting, is a plow tractor with an electric motor served by a power cable. This new machine carries a twelve foot mast and has a rotating drum from which the cable, connected at the other end to a power main, is unwound as the plow moves away across the field. On the return trip this cable is again wound upon the drum. Tests have been completed in Swedish fields, which determine the economy of the new type of plow, in cases where the existence of feed lines along the fields make its use possible.

Trial By Jury in Japan Provided For

TOKIO, May 3.—(By Associated Press.)—Both houses of the Diet have passed a bill for the introduction of trial by jury throughout Japan. The system, however, will not be introduced until 1929. The lower house unanimously supported the measure, but the peers had a prolonged debate before passing on it, a number of the members declaring that Japan was not yet ripe for trial by jury.

NORTH CHAMBERS COMMERCE MAKE PROTEST ON RULE

Shipping Board Ruling of No Bookings North of S. F. Attacked.

SEATTLE, May 3.—Protests have been made by the Portland chamber of commerce, the Tacoma commercial club and the Seattle chamber of commerce against an order of the United States Shipping Board that Swane & Hoyt who are operating boats of the board between the west coast of the United States and the east coast of South America, discontinue booking passengers north of San Francisco. W. B. Henderson, head of the foreign trade bureau of the Seattle chamber of commerce, declared today that the order was a great injustice to Seattle and Portland, because these ports furnish most of the cargo for the service, which was established last winter.

The American-Hawaiian Steamship Company is in negotiation with the Seattle port commission for the use of the Stacy-Lander street terminal's barge it was leased today. This company, which operates 26 vessels in the intercoastal trade, has been using the Union Pacific pier here.

The Pacific Steamship Company today announced that the motorship Colclough, which drove onto a rock in British Columbia in March, will be dismantled. It was stated that the Colclough, which was towed here yesterday, was so badly damaged that repairs were inadvisable. Her engines were pronounced in first class condition.

Passengers on the President McKinley of the Admiral-Original Line which left here today for the Far East, were afforded a spectacle on the upper deck when Wan Gun, formerly a street performer in Hongkong and Shanghai, led a dragon dance. The McKinley took 420 passengers, including a number of teachers for the Philippines.

O. G. Limecooley, formerly a purser on the Admiral Line, left here today to take a new assignment at San Pedro for the Washington Tug and Barge Company. This company is operating the steamship Roosevelt and a fleet of lumber barges between Puget Sound and Los Angeles.

WORK OF MERCY DONE WELL BY ENGLISH RADIO

LONDON, May 3.—Broadcasting, which may become almost a mania, has been applied to novel purposes in the last few days. At midnight Monday, the Manchester station sent forth an appeal for volunteers for a blood transfusion to save the life of a man dying in a hospital after the amputation of an arm.

Within an hour four men had arrived at the institution to offer their blood, but the patient had died.

A few evenings ago, a woman residing in a country town which has no telephone or telegraph service at night, was brought to the bedside of her son who was dying in London. The woman's neighbors had heard the wireless call for her.

Bones of Dead Will Be Used in Statue

TOKIO, May 3.—(By Associated Press.)—An image of Buddha made entirely from human bones will shortly be dedicated at Joganji Temple, Fukagawa. According to the head priest of the temple, more than 2,600 dead persons' bones had been stored during the past ten years within the temple's Charnel House, at the request of those poor people who were unable to bury the dead after cremating them.

The storage in the bone house recently has outgrown the capacity of accommodation and, after a conference last autumn of the people concerned, the idea was hit upon to make Buddha's image from the powdered bones.

GOVERNOR WILL BACK ORIGINAL BUDGET FIGURES

Richardson Says He Will Act Promptly On Increases Made in Assembly.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, May 3.—Further announcement that he will put the budget back to its original form as recommended by him, was made today in a statement issued by Governor Friend W. Richardson. The budget as amended by the assembly is practically $31,000,000, as the assembly increases were $1,170,000.

The Governor in an interview said: "I will redeem my pledge to the people to put the state on an economical and efficient basis. I do not propose to permit the budget to be increased as proposed by the reactionary spendthrifts in the assembly. I will keep it under eighty million dollars. The budget I approved took ample care of all state institutions. The increases proposed by the assembly were put in for political effect."

WATCHMAN FALLS FROM CAR, KILLED

He was taken to the Emergency hospital, where it was found that he had died en route.

27 Amendments Tacked Onto State Budget Bill

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK

SACRAMENTO, TRIBUNE BUREAU, May 3.—Some more amendments—twenty-seven, to be exact, have been tacked onto the budget by the Senate Finance committee, and the measure today reached the floor of the Senate. According to Governor Friend W. Richardson, the Senate will show more speed than the Assembly did, and it is expected that the budget will be in the hands of Governor Friend W. Richardson by Monday.

Among the amendments introduced into the budget by the Senate Finance Committee during a session which came to a close at 1 o'clock this morning, are the 24 amendments which were introduced in the Assembly by Homer R. Spence of Alameda, but which were defeated in the lower house. Furthermore there are two amendments which, while they withdraw appropriations for the state real estate and fish and game commissions from the budget, yet provide for the right on the part of these commissions to maintain themselves out of their "self-supporting funds." And then there is an amendment which allocates 1 per cent of the normal school funds for the support of the offices of Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood. Wood was particularly insistent that some provision be made in the budget for his administrative offices, and he expressed the view that, failing such provision, his administrative headquarters would have no claim to any state funds for their support and maintenance.

CREATES DISCUSSION

The question of the legality of the funds provided, outside of the budget, for the support of the southern branch of the University of California, created a great deal of discussion. Senator Newton M. Allen of Los Angeles introduced an amendment to provide $1,250,000 for the southern branch, but as none of the committee members seconded the motion, it went by the board.

However, it was pointed out that the southern branch would be provided for by a special appropriation in a bill introduced by Senator Charles W. Lyon, of Venice. Robert Sproul, controller of the university, was also of this opinion but stated that if the bill failed to pass the university would have no provision for the university.

Senator Arthur H. Breed declared that he could not "conceive the possibility of failure for the proposed university appropriation."

OPINIONS ARE HEARD

The committee listened to opinions on the budget act as expressed by Controller Ray L. Riley. Attorney General U. S. Webb, Deputy Attorney General R. T. McKisick, and by Mrs. Nellie B. Pierce of the board of control.

Controller Riley informed the committee that his handling company had advised him only to honor those warrants for money which were contained in the budget. He stated that on July 1 he would turn all funds from self-supporting departments into the general fund, unless legislation to the contrary was enacted. He considered the amendments as offered the committee by Senator Herbert Jones as sufficient.

Attorney-General Webb declared that Controller Riley had no authority to place any money into the general fund except those specially stipulated by law. He said: "Except by strong-arm methods the controller cannot place special funds such as those derived from the fish and game laws, in the general fund."

The attorney-general also made it plain that, if the support of the fish and game commission was paid for by budget appropriation, as provided in the governor's draft of the bill, one million dollars would remain undispensed of in the fund of the fish and game commission.

RILEY MAINTAINS STAND

Riley reiterated that by July 1 he would put all special funds into the general fund. He maintained his opinion that the recurrent appropriations must go into the budget bill.

Senator Will R. Sharkey of Martinez, created a sensation when he declared that the state treasurer had also received an opinion from his bonding company similar to that furnished to Riley.

Senator Walter McDonald of San Francisco declared that the amendments were of a political nature, and that they aimed to make the budget total appear higher.

Senator Arthur H. Breed of Piedmont and Los Angeles Gov. F. C. C.

Bill to Strengthen Anti-Alien Land Act

SACRAMENTO, May 3.—The assembly of the state legislature passed without debate a bill by Mrs. Woodbridge, which was prepared by the attorney-general of California, the effect of which is to extend the anti-alien laws relating to real property. It was explained that aliens forbidden by law from holding or leasing real property have been making crop contracts which were in effect land leases. The bill so amends the act relating to the disabilities of aliens that it will put a stop to this type of contracts.

Efforts were made by Cleveland to make some amendments on the floor, which he said were needed for the protection of other crop contract holders, but McDowell of Fresno said the question was not one of law. He said it was purely a question of whether or not the legislature wanted to strengthen the anti-alien law that its further evasion would be impossible.

James of Los Angeles also spoke for the bill, and Carter said that he was in favor of it, and voted for it, although he said its passage would mean that he must lease some of his own property for perhaps a thousand dollars a year less than other tenants would be willing to pay for it. He said the public protection was the paramount issue.

8-WHEEL VEHICLE DECLARED SAVING

Governor Admits This Little Man Is Real Master

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, May 3.—The use of an eight-wheel type of vehicle on the highways of the state, provided for in a proposed amendment to the general revenue act, was declared a saving in a special bill of Assemblyman R. Lyman of Oakland, would, while allowing a great weight per vehicle, reduce the cost of keeping the highway system in repair by a large percentage. Major Bruce Carter, U. S. A., retired, told the members of the sub-committee on motor vehicle legislation last night. The suggestion was forwarded by the sub-committee to the general committee on motor vehicles.

COULD REDUCE COST

Major Carter, who is an expert on road construction and transportation said in part: "It is reported that there are about two hundred millions invested in State and county highways which cost about twenty million per annum to keep in repair. The use of the eight-wheel vehicle should reduce the cost, compared to the four-wheel vehicle, 75 per cent or $15,000,000, and as compared to the six-wheeler, at least 60 per cent or $9,000,000 per annum. This saving to the State should be a very attractive item to those interested in securing the greatest economy for the taxpayer."

LESSENS ROAD IMPACT

"In the eight-wheel vehicle the axle of each end of four wheels on either side are connected with springs which are so arranged that they oscillate around a central transverse bar. If the front axle drops four inches the following wheel being on the level does not drop four inches at all and the transition bar drops only two inches. The time required for the transition to drop two inches is the same as that required for the axle to drop four inches. The impact to the road is directly proportional to the energy of motion which in turn is directly proportional to the square of the velocity. The energy of motion of the drop of the front axle is twice as great as that of the drop of the transverse bar, and from the equation $E = mv^2$ one-half of a square, or as sixteen is to four or four to one. In other words the impact to the road is one-fourth as great as it would be with a four-wheel vehicle. The distribution of the load on the eight-wheel vehicle is 10 1/2 tons as compared to 28 1/2 on the four-wheel vehicle; or 15 per cent of the load on each rear wheel in the eight-wheel vehicle as compared to 37 1/2 per cent on each wheel in the four-wheel vehicle."

Wing Tips to Help Lift of Airplanes

LONDON, May 3.—(By Associated Press.)—An improvement of at least 10 per cent in the lifting efficiency of aeroplane wings is expected to be the result of the new wing tip device.

Young ex-officer of the flying corps. He claims to have discovered the method by which cranes and other birds glide at line angles, and experiments which have been made with gliding models suggest that the wing tip feathers are not merely for balancing purposes but contribute largely to the lifting capacity.

TEACHER TENURE BILL REPEAL IS BEATEN, 60 TO 14

Majority of Assemblymen Hold Instructors Should Have Protection.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, May 3.—The Assembly has defeated by a vote of 60 to 14 the proposal of Dr. Ernest Dozier of Redding to repeal the teachers' tenure bill, which assures teachers of life position.

In making the principal argument for the repeal of the act, which became law two years ago, Dr. Dozier declared that the act deprived the people of their right to make changes in the teaching staff when they so desired. He also charged that great pressure had been brought to bear by the teachers of the State in fighting his bill for repeal.

The majority of Assemblymen held that teachers should be entitled to some protection and to permanence in their positions. It was pointed out by those that, in a manner, the tenure bill contained civil service features which were of benefit to the teachers and held out attractions to students in teachers' training colleges.

Naahy Rudolph L. Coffey of Oakland addressed the Senate Judiciary committee last night in the interest of the addition of the eugenic question, "Are you in good health," to the marriage questionnaire. The committee approved the bill.

The bill by Senator P. J. Moir of Modoc county, stipulating that railroads shall reimburse employees for property losses suffered by such employees as a result of the moving of stations or terminals, was passed by the Senate after a brief debate.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, SACRAMENTO, May 3.—Though Governor Friend W. Richardson refuses to accept mandates from the assembly in the matter of the budget, he acknowledges one master just the same. At 6 o'clock last night the Governor was still busy signing documents of state when his telephone rang. Secretary Harry Luitens took the receiver off the hook and turned to the executive, saying: "Governor, your son John wants to speak to you."

The Governor's official frown made place for a very human smile as he took the receiver to converse with his 13-year-old son, and the following dialogue ensued:

John: "Pa, I want you to come home right away."

The Governor of California: "Just a minute, son. I'm busy."

John: "Oh, Pa, don't wait. I am in a hurry."

The Governor: "What's the matter? Want me to play ball again?"

John: "Yes, Pa, and I also want you to help me get the ball out of the tree."

The Governor: "That's all right, son. I'll be home soon as I get these papers signed."

John: "Hurry up, Pa, and when are you going to buy me that football?"

The Governor: "Why, you've got a baseball. What do you want a football for?"

John: "To kick over the lawn. You've got to play with me, Pa."

The Governor: "All right, son."

That decision to build the proposed Veterans' Hospital at Livermore may be announced by the Veterans' Bureau at Washington early next week is the belief expressed by C. B. Dodds, secretary to Senator Shortridge, in a telegram received by County Clerk George "Boss" Fisher. The telegram is as follows:

"Decision on construction of the Livermore hospital expected first of next week by Director Hines. My present opinion is that the hospital may be reduced in size somewhat and built along different lines, but that it will be built. This is my impression after a talk today with several bureau officials."

Earlier in the week the American Legion post at Livermore received a telegram from Major Graupner of the post, now at Washington, saying that the hospital would probably be of a bungalow type, and would be duplicated in Los Angeles. Both hospitals would be built simultaneously, the telegram stated.

LOS ANGELES, May 3.—Never before in its history has Los Angeles real estate equaled what it is today. The turn-over in property is the fastest of any city in the country. The amount of property that is being paid for with cash is also astounding.

Just how many subdivisions are now open real estate dealers frankly admit they do not know. They say they know how many are advertised in the newspapers, but that, in addition to those advertised, there are countless others. It is conservatively estimated that more subdivisions have been opened in Los Angeles and its environs in the last two years than in any ten years previous.

Another feature in connection with the rapid growth of Los Angeles and the opening up of new residential and business sections is that there is an unlimited amount of money available for purchasing. Although investigation here has revealed that more people can make substantial first payments on property than in any city of like size in the country, the amount of property that is being paid for with cash is also astounding.

In subdivisions which have both business and residential fronts, one seems to sell as rapidly as the other. In proportion to the number of lots changing hands daily

MISSING WOMAN AND CHILDREN LEGALLY DEAD

Chapter in Probate Court Is Sequel to Mrs. Laura Curtis Mystery.

Another chapter was written today in the mysterious disappearance several years ago of Mrs. Laura Curtis and her two children, when Superior Judge D. C. Robinson, in the probate court, intimated that a week from today he would declare the woman and children legally dead and distribute their estates to relatives.

In 1908 Mrs. Curtis left her husband, Edwin C. Curtis, and taking her two children, Edwin E., eight years old, and Madeline, seven years old, she went to Kingsport, Tenn., to visit a brother of her husband.

After several days spent there her brother-in-law took her to the station and put Mrs. Curtis and her children on board a train bound for Oakland. From that time to this they have never been seen according to the statements of Attorney B. R. Atkin, who appears for the relatives.

Curtis hunted for his family for several years, the search extending throughout the country, but proving fruitless. In 1920 Curtis died, leaving a small estate. Eugene Curtis, Mrs. Curtis' son, and Mrs. Lydia Cogswore, his relatives, petitioned for his estate. A year ago the matter was brought up, but Judge Robinson ordered that further search for Mrs. Curtis and her children be made. Atkin today told the court that this had been unavailing, and asked for distribution of the estate.

Judge Robinson announced that he would take this action next Thursday.

The community property consists only of the household effects. It is stated that Mrs. George says her husband remained away from home several days at a time between January and June, 1922, and refused to explain where he had been. George also refused to associate with her friends or keep social engagements with her, she says.

Hearings in School Row Are Opened by Board

The board of education today opened its hearings of the charges brought by School Director Georgia Ormsby that Superintendent of Schools Fred M. Hunter used the Liberty Bonds purchased by the school children for campaign purposes in the 1922 school election and then reimbursed the pupils out of school moneys. Superintendent Hunter has denied the charges and brought forth an affidavit signed by Vernon P. Irvin, accountant for the board and T. A. Crellin, vice-president of the Central Savings Bank showing that the Liberty Bonds in question are intact in the safety deposit.

This document was introduced as evidence at the meeting this afternoon by Superintendent Hunter, who charges that he is being made the victim of a plot by the members of a political faction in the board and demands a legal justification of the charges. In addition to this charge, the members of the board are contemplating the placing of a charge against Hunter as the result of an article written by William Cavalier showing the best form of investment for school children, according to some of the members.

Other charges against the superintendent included the alleged taking of eight boys from the Technical high school to deliver political cards for the Allen-Kramer-Chandler ticket seeking election against the Boyle-Miller-Craig ticket; and the alleged introduction of John J. Allen, a candidate for school director by the school principal.

These charges are also denied by Hunter. The faculty of Intermediate school in East Oakland, which adopted resolutions commending Superintendent of Schools Fred Hunter for his stand.

PRINCIPALS DENY POLITICS. Fifty of the fifty-two school and high school principals of Oakland, at a meeting of the Principals' Club last night, sent to Superintendent Hunter a statement that the 1922 school campaign was not a "political" campaign and that the transactions during that campaign were made with the support and knowledge of the board of education then in office.

This statement, according to the principals, is a result of the allocation of school funds by Director Georgia Ormsby, who intimated that the Liberty Bonds of school children were used for "political purposes" by Hunter during that campaign.

ISSE STATEMENT. The principals' statement, which takes up the charges in paragraph by paragraph, is as follows: From information received through the daily press the Principals' Club of Oakland learns that you have been called upon to make a report to the Board of Education concerning the 1922 school campaign. Liberty Bonds purchased during the war by the various schools of the city.

Since the principals are directly concerned in the resolution offered by a member of the board, we feel that it is our duty as a matter of justice, to submit to you certain facts in the case in order that your report may be complete. We, therefore, submit herewith an analysis of certain items submitted as information and set forth as a preamble to the resolution. It is our duty that our analysis may be exact, we are making it conform in number to the said report of information.

PURCHASE OF BONDS. In this paragraph the statement is made that these Liberty Bonds were purchased by school children. As a matter of fact these bonds were purchased in various ways, such as by contributions from principals, teachers, children and members of the community and from the proceeds of various entertainments. The bonds were, therefore, the property of the respective schools and not the property of the children.

In this paragraph the statement is made that the bonds were ordered delivered to the then secretary-business manager, now Deputy Superintendent of Schools Barbee. As a matter of fact no such order was given, but an opportunity was given to deposit the bonds with the secretary-business manager of the Board of Education for safekeeping. The bonds, however, did not all principals delivered the bonds of which they were custodians to Dan Pratt, who was then secretary-business manager of the Board of Education. They were delivered to him for safekeeping and were held subject to the order of the principals.

NOT POLITICAL CAMPAIGN. Reference is made in this paragraph to the School Bond election campaign of 1919 as a political campaign. This campaign was covered upon by unanimous action of the Board of Education and was given the united support of the school people and a large majority of the public. The minutes of the Board of Education of August 25, 1919, read as follows:

"That the following recommendations of the publicity committee be approved: 1. That a sum not exceeding $10,000 be set aside for publicity purposes during the School Bond election campaign. 2. That a professional publicity man be employed by the Board of Education to assist the publicity committee during the election campaign at a salary not to exceed $750. 3. That a sub-committee composed of the superintendent of school, the publicity man employed by the board of education, and the secretary to the publicity committee, have charge of the printed publicity of the campaign, including: 1. Newspaper publicity. 2. Printed pamphlets, circulars, etc. 3. The Board of Education Bulletin, 'Our Public Schools.' 4. Motion picture films. 5. Any other printed matter. 4. That the publicity committee, composed of Director Campbell as chairman, and President Gray, with the assistance of Superintendent Hunter, organize a speakers' bureau, select speakers from the various Oakland organizations, arrange for and secure audiences in theaters, churches, schools, civic and fraternal organizations, etc. 5. That Chairman Campbell and President Gray, assisted by the superintendent of schools, present the school building needs to the Mothers' Clubs and Parent-Teachers' Association. 6. That a committee of mothers be appointed to campaign work in each precinct in the city of Oakland. 7. That letters be directed to the various organizations mentioned under Article 4 asking them to assist in the bond campaign by naming speakers from their ranks. 8. That the various organizations who will be willing to help with the campaign."

EXACT FACTS CITED. The exact facts concerning the paragraph are obtained from the records of the board of education. 4. In this paragraph we object to the insinuation that the superintendent or any member of the board attempted to coerce any school child into giving or illegal act should be clearly understood in this connection that the bonds were the property of the respective schools and were a part of the subsidiary funds of each school. As such they were, according to the rules of the Board of Education, under the control of the principals of the respective schools. Furthermore the minutes of August 25, 1919, as quoted in Section 2, above, show that the responsibility for the school bond campaign was placed wholly with the board of education.

6. This paragraph is wholly in error. The suggestion that public funds might be used for the purchase of school accessories came as a result of statements from several principals present that they had contemplated purchasing certain articles for their schools from the proceeds of the sale of their bonds. The suggestion was made that the Board of Education had the legal right to make such suggestions. Nothing was then suggested or afterward done that was either unethical or illegal.

CHARGE DECLARED FALSE. 7. The statement to the effect that the principals were directed to include the school children, as indicated in this paragraph, is entirely false. Respectfully submitted, W. M. Greenwell, Margaret J. Poore, C. E. Guleck, C. E. Hudepeth, C. P. Finger, Albert C. Scott, T. J. Graham, M. P. Hurley, J. Fred Anderson, H. N. Massey, Clarence B. Crane, W. A. Guleck, H. W. FOREIGN LINERS EXEMPT FROM DRY LAW SEARCH

"Dry Navy" Cutter Routes Rum Fleet With Shells From 4-Pounder.

By W. H. ATKINS. WASHINGTON, May 3.—Seizure of big foreign liners for carrying liquor into American ports in violation of the Volstead act is not contemplated by the government in preparing to enforce the supreme court's new three-mile decision, it was announced officially today at the treasury department.

Vessels will not even be searched, officials said, unless flagrant violations are suspected, but if liquor is found it will be confiscated by prohibition and customs officers.

NEW YORK, May 3.—(By International News Service.)—Two shots from the revenue cutter Senechal of the "dry navy" routed the rum fleet, it was reported today from official sources. The Senechal brought its four-pounder into action while pursuing two rum runners and fired the warning shots across their bows when they did not draw up. As a result of the skirmish the rum vessels have put to sea.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(By International News Service.)—Coast guard stations along the Atlantic coast have ordered today to search for the yacht fleet and other vessels of the routed New York rum fleet.

When revenue cutters opened war against the liquor ships, some of the rum runners fled to sea. Officials think they will try to put in at some Atlantic port to continue their smuggling activities.

PARIS, May 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—The merchant marine industry is delving into old laws which might form the basis of a campaign of reprisal against American ships as one mode of replying to the United States supreme court's decision with regard to liquor being illegal on all vessels within the territorial waters of the United States.

At the ministry it was suggested yesterday that the French law requiring meat coming within French territory to be inspected by veterinarians might be applied to meat aboard all American ships entering French waters. Another law that dealing with the method of construction of vessels. This influence of this would compel American vessels to obey the same laws as French ships. It was pointed out that if some dozens of other such laws were applied no American ships could possibly touch at French ports.

MILLER TALKS FOR WATER DISTRICT

Formation of the Eastbay Water district would practically mean an average reduction in the city tax rate of 6.2 cents, Corner Grant 21. Miller based his figures on the $21,000 paid by the city for water annually to the East Bay Water Company is a "stunt" job. This "public use charge" is imposed by orders of the State Railroad Commission. One of the immediate results of the setting up of a municipal water system would be the disappearance of this annual charge, Miller told his listeners.

U. S. METHODIST BISHOP DEFENDS SOVIET REVOLT

Address Before the Moscow Ecclesiastical Council Creates Sensation.

By ADELE PARKER. International News Service Staff Correspondent. MOSCOW, May 3.—The all-Russian ecclesiastical conference of the United States, created a sensation today when he defended the soviet revolution in a speech before the council. This is the branch of the orthodox church which supports the soviets.

During greetings from the Methodists of America, said Bishop Blake. "These distressing days are witnessing one of the most remarkable upheavals in history. But I do not share the fears that civilization is doomed."

"Revolutionary upheavals do not bring death, but larger life inspired by God. It is folly for the church to pronounce anathema against those who are seeking new truth. The church must seek the Great Adventure of free investigation. A church's right to exist is only to serve the people. Only a few challenge the right of the church to exist."

"A great struggle is in progress to abolish oppression. Those who have been oppressed and exploited must be given a chance at the best things in life. In this struggle the church cannot stand aloof. Russia is passing through a great social and economic revolution. For the first time in history a great nation and a great people are dedicating themselves to the service of mankind. But unless God assists, how can this movement succeed?"

FAVORABLE CHURCH AND BISHOP'S SPEECHES. "Doubtless things have been done in the past which should not have been done. Also, things were not done which should have been done. The churches should join hands with any government that is trying to raise the masses to the place God intended they should be."

Other speakers condemned Moscow. Rev. Father Tikhon, former patriarch of the orthodox church, who is under arrest for treason.

After his speech he had ceased speaking, Metropolitan Peter, head of the orthodox church, warmly embraced him.

The rich robes of the prelates with the diamond crosses and the white robes of the metropolitan made an impressive scene in the meeting chamber.

McLAFFERTY SEES TOO MUCH JAZZ IN GOVERNMENT

Congressman Outlines Big Issues in Address to Lions' Club.

There is too much jazz in government, in the opinion of Congressman James H. McLaflerty, who addressed the Lions' club at their weekly luncheon-meeting at the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

"Too many foolish ideas have been imported from Europe," he declared, "and if we are not careful we will lose sight of what we know as pure Americanism. We must Americanize the Americans. Too many of us do not know what is meant by true Americanism."

"I shall be glad when the Alameda Naval Base issue is settled one way or the other. If Alameda decides in favor of it, I have good reasons for believing that the project will become a reality."

"Many who speak on the floor of Congress use the valuable time allotted for governmental matters to discuss irrelevant questions pertaining to other nations. Some of these men are under the direct leadership of Mr. Lenin in Moscow."

REAL ISSUE FOUND AT HOME.

"There is one thing I wish you to keep in mind when the question of a world court comes up in connection with the presidential campaign next year. It is neither a paramount issue nor a political issue, although it is sometimes referred to as the paramount political issue. The internal affairs of our country will be the real paramount issue."

"We need more men in Congress like Uncle Joe Cannon. It was through his efforts that the lower house was prevented from defeating the shipping bill. He refused to permit time to be devoted to subjects designed to kill time before the measure came up for a vote."

"I feel certain that I have the best district in the United States to represent and if you doubt it, take a five or six months' trip and return to Oakland."

LEASE MUST BE EXTENDED.

"Owing to death and sickness of many members of Congress, the former's delegation to Washington has been greatly weakened from time to time. At times, I have been the only man on my feet to speak for California. I want to carry on the fight for the naval base with all my strength, but first of all I must have your backing and your vote on the extension of the lease on the naval base site."

Speaking of President Harding, McLaflerty said: "President Harding has one of the most wonderful personalities of any man I have ever met. He is a thorough American, who loves his country. He is not afraid of anything and will fight to the end for what he believes to be the best for the American people."

RAGS, TATTERS WILL FEATURE SENIOR PARTY

Members Thus Will Typify Struggle After They Graduate.

BERKELEY, May 2.—In rags and tatters, with brooms, picks and old umbrellas, this year's senior class at the University of California will have a party next Tuesday, the day before graduation, to typify the coming struggle to earn a living.

The "hard times party" is but one of the many features of a week crowded with senior activities, including a banquet for men and women, a ball at the Hotel Oakland, the presentation of the extravaganza, "The Pilgrimage Through the Campus," and finally commencement exercises in the Greek theater, May 15.

Preparing for "a rainy day" by getting accustomed to the feel of a broom or a shovel is part of the college work. The seniors are practicing this week.

Among the students who are working for the success of senior week activities are: Allen MacBrien, Elizabeth Burroughs, George Mathew, Lora Noble, Sylvia Hirsch, Beatrice Ward and Maria Martin.

GIRL AND TRAMP HIKE AS GHOST FAILS TO WALK

Members of Stranded Road Show File Suit for Salaries Secured by Notes.

"The Girl and the Tramp" lived up to its billing in that the members tramped home from Red Bluff when the no office receipts became so minute that even the ghost could not walk.

This is the story contained in a suit for damages filed by the Actors' Equity Association in behalf of the members of the company against the Cosmopolitan Producing Company, F. A. Giesse, W. A. Russo, Max Hasse and T. C. Reavis.

The sum demanded in the suit is $1,743.15 alleged to be due in salaries to the several members of the company who were stranded in Red Bluff after a long season in the small towns of California, Arizona, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

According to Theodore J. Hale, representative of the Equity, the organizers of the producing company stayed with the organization as long as it was a profitable enterprise, but left it, once the show began to lose money and denied further responsibility.

"The members of the company have received promissory notes for the amount asked in the complaint. My Merton has one for $309.15 covering salary due; Harry Ramsey, $174.75; Gordon and Reavis, $238.40; William Durant, $304.40; Jack Dougherty, $280.05; and John Hughes, $196.40," said Hale.

According to a statement made by Russo for the Cosmopolitan Producing Company this morning, the defendants did not withdraw when business was bad but withdrew when Richard Wilbur, the manager, wanted to take the show beyond the confines of California.

The defendants are a prominent in the theater world. Giesse handles the bookings of the Shubert and Klaw and Erlanger as well as independent shows in California. Russo is the proprietor of the Astor theater here and the manager of the Victory theater in San Jose, and Reavis operates the Santa Rosa theater.

CURTAIN CALLS

"THE bedroom farce is the wool alcohol of the stage." So says Walker Whiteside, once a Shakespearean actor, and now the foremost, if not the only, successful interpreter of Oriental types.

Whiteside arrived in Oakland today to play "The Hindu" at the Auditorium theater. He is very strongly on the subject of the bedroom farce and is not hesitant about voicing his views.

"The boudoir drama is doing for the theater exactly what whisky did for light wines and beers," continued the star. "It is robbing us of our legitimate pleasures. We need and must insist upon clean plays and definitely bar those that pander to the degraded mind and intellect."

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

The Elks' Minstrels is at the Macdonough theater tonight. It is advertised as "monstrous, magnificent, marvelous and momentous."

Whiteside for years has stood for the best in the histrionic field. Ever since he deserted the stage for the flesh pots of modern drama he has been identified with excellent offerings. "The Typhoon" portrayed the pulsating fever of the Japanese heart; "Mr. Wu" portrayed the pulsating fever of the Chinese heart; "The Master of Ballantrae" last year's vehicle exhibited Robert Louis Stevenson's views on the subject of immortal love.

While a Shakespearean actor Whiteside achieved a notable distinction. He appeared no less than one thousand times in "Hamlet" and "Othello" and "Macbeth" and "The Merchant of Venice." His work this season in "The Hindu" has been praised uniformly. It is a mystery melodrama with clanking doors, disappearing panels and a scream for two, but it is Whiteside at his best in characterization.

Some-times All Is Not Milk and Honey Behind Scenes

James Richard Ryan, manager of the Fulton, acquired and the Sons of St. George. All of these things must be condensed into short space so it is expedient to start the tale without further verbal perisage.

When Robert Warwick read his role in "The Faithful Heart" he must have seen to be most effective. It must be natural. Now for many years only the most talented of actors have dared to read their lines with their backs to the audience. In the third act Warwick has an important moment, a vital speech to read, one throbbing with emotion.

Had he desired he might have read it directly to the audience thus making certain its success by facial tricks and other means of conveyance of stage ideas. Instead he crossed to a small place, put his face in his folded arms and read the speech there. The effect was splendid. It was the natural movement, the exact way of doing it properly.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"The Queen's Lace Handkerchief" is at the California with the McCull opera company and Francis Wilson playing a comedy role.

Which leads to the uniform Warwick wore. It fit like the proverbial glove at two-fifteen but at ten o'clock, "That's another story. The costume tailor who constructed it sewed the sleeves in backwards. Fortunately it was discovered at rehearsal and another tailor was summoned from his church-going and forced to sew for all he was worth."

Which in turn leads to Ryan's army officers' uniforms. They were international in design. The cut was English, the buttons and trimmings American, and the general ensemble a cross between a French fur and a Russian and a street car conductor's outfit.

Finally Ryan got in touch with the Sons of St. George and through the organization with some experienced officers of the type and build needed and the day was saved.

Miss M. Marchant of the Hawthorne school, who was in charge of the work of the school, has started the new campaign.

The Parent-Teachers' association has entered enthusiastically into the drive. The association has sent let-

BAY BRIDGE WILL

HONOR WAR DEAD

That the transbay bridge from Little Coyote Point to Alvarado, for which the preliminary surveys are now being made, is not to be merely a commercial proposition but a monument to patriotism, was announced today by Colonel Frank Elbridge Webb, sponsor of the bridge.

Webb said that the structure would be named "The San Francisco Bay Memorial Bridge," and would be dedicated to the memory of the men from the bay district who served in the world war.

The name of each local soldier to be inscribed on tablets which will be placed on the bridge, according to Webb's plan.

Webb said he had submitted the idea to Major-General Hunter Liggett, and that the latter had thoroughly approved it. General Liggett is chairman of the board of directors of the bridge corporation.

Actual construction work on the projected bridge will begin next Monday, according to Webb, when the first piles will be driven along the line of the bridge route. All foundations will be completed, Webb said.

DRY LAWS LOSE

POLICE CANNOT

WARSAW, May 3.—(By Associated Press.)—Rumors that the Ministry of Finance intended to cancel restrictions on the sale and consumption of alcoholic drinks are confirmed by the proposition made by M. Grabski, finance minister.

The new bill proposes to allow free sale and consumption of all drinks containing less than 4 per cent pure alcohol (the present limit is 12 per cent), and to allow a maximum strength of drinks, 60 per cent pure alcohol instead of the present maximum of 40 per cent. It is further proposed to cancel entirely the prohibition on drinks in railways and railway stations, and the sale of drinks on the eve of holidays and on Sundays.

The minister declares that the present restrictions do not diminish the consumption of alcohol, while they do lead to frequent violations of the law, to illegal transactions in the sale of alcoholic liquor on which no taxes can be collected.

It is thought that the Diet is too dry, however, to share the opinions of the minister, and that he will have difficulty in getting his bill passed in its present form.

TWO ELECTIONS.

As results of Tuesday's elections Berkeley has named the first mayor and councilmen it will have under the city manager plan and Alameda, by an overwhelming expression, has voted bonds for a new high school. The Berkeley voters, seven to one, spoke for an increase in the wage for their firemen.

A noticeable feature of the Berkeley election was the appearance of two complete slates in the field, a development similar to that in many other cities having the city manager plan. As the manager is to owe his appointment to the council and is not to go before the voters the trend has been to attempt to assure an agreement by grouping the candidates for council positions under one banner or another. Thus in Berkeley the Municipal Ticket opposed the All-Berkeley Ticket, with a result that the former won all down the line.

The agreement which is promised by this following slate bespeaks harmony in the city hall and an easy choice of manager. Obviously, at the next election the friends of the manager will present a ticket and those who desire a change will offer another so that while the manager himself will not be up directly for election, the public will have the chance to express its opinion of his administration. It is when the ticket fails to win a complete victory that the manager's troubles may be expected to start. Heretofore Berkeley has avoided slates and tickets; it will watch the working of the latest development with interest.

There was never any doubt concerning Alameda's desire to provide a modern and adequate building for its high school students. Had it not been for the war the duty would have been performed long ago. The new $750,000 structure will reflect with credit the enterprising and responsible spirit of the city.

FROM RUHR TO THURINGIA.

Those who look upon the map to find Thuringia, where it is said Germany will center her industries, will have wasted their time. Thuringia is not an official name. Like the "New England" of America, it is not a political unit but a popular designation rich in historic claim.

The district to which, according to dispatches, Germany is planning to transfer the activities which have made the Ruhr and Saar, is across the old kingdom of Saxony from Silesia in the very heart of Germany. It is far removed from the frontiers and is said to possess a population far from prosperous and anxious to work. More important are recent discoveries of iron ore in the region. Weimar is in the center of Thuringia. Luther was born on its borders and went to school at Eisenach.

With the Ruhr deadlock holding on the German plans are calculated to stimulate developments. It would not be possible to occupy Thuringia without a much larger force than that in the Ruhr, the seizure of a great part of Germany's rail system and the holding of a long strip of territory to insure communication and supply.

It will take time to transfer industrial Germany and, doubtless, the Germans believe the debt question will have been settled by then. In the meantime they are finding money to make the move and recognizing that the earlier the start the greater the advantages to be won.

Proprietors of the factories which turn out popular music are distressed because the radio is circulating their masterpieces of jazz and tin pan effects. Together they have presented a claim for recompense, an appeal for a royalty on all the modern and accelerated measures which are sent over the air. In reply the radio folk have said that, unless the organization which produces the great part of the popular songs retreats from its position, "you gotta see your mamma every night" and similar song delicacies will be taken off the air and the favorites of another generation substituted. Without pretending to speak for the entire number of radio fans it may be said that this threat carries with it a soothing promise.

WILL CHEST FAIL?

Is Oakland to fail in its Community Chest campaign?

Despite the generous subscriptions of many of its citizens, merchants and manufacturers the chest is not full and the question of failure looms up in all its serious aspects.

There are several reasons given for the lack, so far, of that general response which would complete the task. Some of them are not sound; some are not fair.

A community which is part of the great metropolitan area surrounding the Bay must include as residents men and women who are employed, for instance, in San Francisco. There are here many branches of establishments having plants across the Bay. Oakland houses the factories and workers of institutions which have their offices in San Francisco. Some of these concerns have recognized their obligations in welfare work in the Eastbay in direct proportion to their interests here; others have refused to contribute in any city save that which has their general offices or larger establishments.

To offset this amount a number of Oakland men have voluntarily increased their earlier subscriptions, have given more than their share that the drive may be put over. Others are considering doing the same.

Prejudice has halted many a subscription and prejudice has been seized upon by some as a convenient reason for not giving. Many of those who are convinced as to the correctness of their attitude in curtailing subscriptions, or in giving nothing, have not considered the question in its entirety.

To these men it may be suggested that dislike or disapproval of any one or more institutions in the list is not reason for withholding a subscription. Those who have contributed each year to that disapproved institution have contributed this year to the chest and a part of their money has gone to each of the other agencies and institutions. The community each year has given to all of the charitable and welfare bodies on the list; the total and the distribution has been the same. There is no difference—save those of efficiency, economy, and security—in results obtained and good accomplished. While one man's money goes in small part to an institution of which he does not fully approve for one reason or another, those who contribute to that institution are giving to the agencies which he favors.

There has been some misunderstanding regarding the allotments. The budgeted items were fixed by a committee of responsible citizens who studied the needs of each agency and ascertained what it had been receiving from the public in the past. Those agencies are satisfied with the sums. In the cases of one or two which might appear disproportionately low it must be remembered there are state, county or federal funds coming to them and the amounts asked from the chest represent that which they have been seeking from the community's generosity—what they now seek.

If Oakland will scrutinize the arguments for and against the chest the full quota will be reached and Oakland will not become known as the first large city to fail.

Is Oakland to fail?

New York is complaining for lack of pier room. The greatest American port laments because of a lack of preparation to meet demands. "If this city had shown only reasonable foresight," says the New York World, "in preparing to meet the modern needs of commerce no question would have arisen of finding pier room for the Leviathan or any other of the largest liners. . . . New York is always incapable of planning ahead and building up to its needs." And New York is not the only city. Its experience with this is a lesson to others.

Travelers returning from Africa report the shiek crop is not up to the celluloid expectations.

"And what can we call the sugar group?"

CASE FOR WORLD COURT.

China's failure to act on the American radio concession because the Peking government is intimidated by Japan furnishes an example of the impossibility of maintaining satisfactory relations with a government that is incapable of exercising independent sovereignty. The Peking ministers compose a mere shadow of a government. It is bullied and blackmailed by the military governors of provinces and dare not make a move that displeases Japan. It cannot suppress rebellion of the southern provinces or the private wars of the governors, who are nominally its servants but who are local despots.

Japan seems able to justify its backing of the Mitsui company by the fact that the Washington treaties have not yet been ratified by France and therefore are not yet effective, but that is contrary to the spirit of its obligations, in fact to the entire spirit of good will and good faith that prevailed at the Washington conference, for the monopoly claimed by the Japanese company is contrary to the open door principle to which all the powers acceded. Since the dispute is as to which company has the prior right, it seems to be justiciable, and is therefore a proper case for submission to the world court. Political pressure exerted to secure decisions of just such cases without regard to law and equity often makes them cause of serious international quarrels sometimes of war. By taking them out of the political into the judicial arena, the world court will aid the preservation of peace.—Portland Oregonian

The LANTERN

The dispute as to how Captain Peter Fitzurse really lost three fingers from his right hand continues, even although the Captain has long since regained them.

We are in receipt of the following letter:

Sir: The story of Hippolyte Paul Hildebrand regarding the loss of three fingers from Captain Fitzurse's hand is amusing. It is sad that in dealing in the personal affairs of such a sterling character as that of Capt. F. Hypocrite Hooligan should go shrink from the guiding star of Capt. F.—Truth.

Here are the facts: In 1855 such an expedition did leave for the Valley of the Kings, headed by Capt. F. I (no less) was second in command; Hooligan was a sergeant of the guard.

The expedition progressed as related by Hooligan and uncovered and entered old Tut's Tomb, Capt. F. leading, and I, as ever, pressing close to his left flank.

As we went into the inner chamber a weird buzz arose, which soon sounded like a shriek, getting louder and louder each instant. Beyond this point Hooligan would do well to feign ignorance, as he led the retreat and the gigantic door closed, leaving Capt. F. and I, his faithful aid, to face alone and unaided the danger which had sent our cowardly retinue scuttling away like rats.

The Captain had not yet drawn his sword, as he always put off such action until absolutely necessary. I was amazed to see the Captain, with lightning speed, draw his blade with his left (he was equally fast with both right and left), and holding out his right hand, with a quick downward draw, a movement of his sword sever the index finger from his right.

There I saw a savage-looking bug which had also been halved with the same stroke. There was not a second for explanation. Capt. F. (always the best-groomed man in England) had hurried the blade back to its scabbard with a crash and had extracted from his hip pocket a small compass and a bit of tissue paper, such as our secret messages were invariably inscribed upon for carrier pigeon transmittal back to the Tower of London.

It seemed like a horrible and foolish nightmare. There stood the Captain, playing jazz by blowing on the paper covered comb. It was then that I noticed another of the terrible bugs, his head eyes gleaming at us from a crevice in the wall above the tier of old Tut.

My sword now came into play, but my quickest thrusts could not reach this terrible bug. While the music continued the bug made no attempt to advance.

I looked to the Captain for a possible cue for action. He took the comb from his lips and said: "THE KEY."

Alas! again that lightning draw and another bug and another finger lay on the floor. The sword crashed back to the scabbard and the comb jazz went on none too soon, as a third bug had appeared in the opening and only passed at the sound of the comb jazz.

Again this horrible scene was gone through and in the next interval came the words: "IS UNDER."

The final pause brought out the words: "TUT'S LEFT EAR."

For the last time the Captain went off into another comb jazz. More bugs appeared, but as Capt. F. played I extracted the key, unlocked the vault and we both went forth to the tunes of Capt. F.'s comb jazz.

Outside the tomb, as I was dressing those stumps, the Captain explained that he had immediately recognized the dreaded comb bug, whose bite on the finger meant sure death. He knew their devilish attack could be ward off only by the tune of the comb jazz, which music prevented their coming close.

Our men had fled. Indeed, never since that day have I laid eyes on Hooligan. My sword is sharp and my eye is still keen.

Our quest was only abandoned when a great earthquake had completely covered the valley with millions of tons of sand.

Sir, you will appreciate that my modesty has suffered at being forced to divulge my own valorous part in the momentous affair which cost Captain Fitzurse three fingers, but as this is an affair which threatens the honor of our dear country I willingly subscribe myself,

ALBERT P. GUMMER, Maplewood, N. J.

The other letter is not by an eye-witness.

The Old Sank to the Rescue.

Gen. Chas. Hunter says he first heard about Mr. Fitzurse losing three fingers in some Egyptian king's cemetery. He was apparently much disturbed by the information, remarking that this sort of thing is becoming too darn common.

He has begun work on what he calls a D-vice, consisting of a sponge, filtering material and secret chemicals for salvaging from two to five fingers. He claims he once nearly lost nearly three fingers himself through pure, everyday carelessness.

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Boston Transcript: "It is likely that the statement with regard to the 'breaking up of the sun,' concerning the idea that the luminary of day is rapidly and fatally disintegrating, with an early probability of refrigeration for the earth, attributed to Dr. W. W. Campbell of the Lick Observatory, was, like the report of Mark Twain's death, somewhat exaggerated in the transmission. Like that famous report, it is to be classed as premature. The sun has been 'throwing off energy' as long as it has been giving light and heat, and that has been a long time. It is at least reasonably certain that the process of 'throwing off energy,' upon which all life in the solar system depends, will continue for ages. Science agrees that the diminution of the sun's heat has not been perceptible in historic times. How is it renewed? We do not precisely know."

New York Herald: "It is one of the recurring events of maritime history that every great war causes an intense revival of interest in the sea and ships. The United States has been going through such a revival since 1917, with the building of an enormous fleet, an increase in educational facilities for learning about ships and the sea, a growing interest in the collecting of old ship models and in the painting of ship pictures by our artists. Ship pictures are more in demand than they have been since the great days of the American clipper in the '40s and '50s."

New Orleans Item: "Miss Tilden, of the Lick Observatory, has informed us that the country girl, generally speaking, has more physical defects than the average city girl. We agree with her—when in the city. When in the country, we doubt it. They look quite good in either place, so long as you are with them."

Brooklyn Eagle: "A striking roading in the United States is the Centenary Celebration of the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, a feature of which was a dinner at the Hotel Astor Monday night. The first D. & H. railroad was opened in 1823, and was run by gravity. It was in 1829 that the Delaware & Hudson first operated its sixteen mile line between Honesdale and Carbondale, Pa., with one locomotive imported from England. Prior to that time there had been no steam railroad for general use in the United States. This was four years after Stephenson's Stockton and Darlington road was opened in England."

Salt Lake Tribune: "The last killing frost in spring, in average years, visits the bench lands of the Salt Lake valley about April 20, but the lower lands are somewhat more susceptible to late spring frosts, and the frost danger period is thus prolonged, the date being about a month later, according to government records. This difference is due to the effect of gravity on the cold air, which tends to gather in the bottom lands, giving killing frosts there while only light frosts occur on the slopes, many times."

Detroit Free Press: "Announcement that representatives of seven of the largest railway systems of the west expressed themselves in favor of the St. Lawrence waterway at the Chicago meeting of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tiedway association is highly significant. These men do not speak as sentimentalists. Their business is transportation, and when they favor a new transportation project it is because they consider it in terms of dollars and cents and believe it will pay."

Chicago Daily News: "If party platforms are to have no significance, no binding force, and each person is to claim the privilege of voting for the party to which he nominally belongs, political and moral choices ahead and aye for unity and effective leadership are futile. It is desirable to preserve direct primaries, but to employ them without wrecking parties or destroying representative and responsible government."

White Breaks Silence

Henry White, former ambassador to France and member of the American delegation at the Paris peace conference, says the present dangerous situation in Europe would not have arisen if America had joined the League of Nations.

The present dangerous situation in Europe is a direct result of the terms of the Versailles treaty. Mr. White helped to make those terms. League advocates usually say the American delegation would have made more moderate terms if it had had its way. Some day these terms will have to be enforced or modified. Mr. White should say what he thinks ought to be done instead of talking about the "tragedy" of America's rejection of the league.

Mr. White says this is his first discussion of the treaty. If he had been asleep for three years and suddenly awakened, he would talk just as he is talking now.—Worcester Telegram.

OTHER SIDE OF STORY.

Just why so much emphasis should be placed upon the condemnation of British royalty in the union with Scottish nobility today does not appear to those who are fond of tracing the lineage of princes and nobles.

Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, who becomes a British "royal highness" by marrying the Duke of York, comes of a Scottish family that has lived in Glamis castle since the year 1376, its owner, Sir John Lyon, having married the daughter of King Robert II of Scotland.

Lady Elizabeth, then, has Scottish royal blood in her veins through a line of ancestors that extends back nearly to Bannockburn and Robert Bruce. Were the progenitors of the house of Windsor, or Guelph, as highly placed so far back as that?

JUST FOLKS

THE VAUDEVILLE OF LIFE.
Life is a vaudeville show.
A good act now and then,
The dancers come and go,
And then the juggling men:
A dreary turn and slow
With nothing new or bright,
The star with eyes aglow,
And at the last "good night."

So we from day to day
Along the stretch of years
Live out life's changing play
From happy mirth to tears.
Success with all its thrills
Lasts but a little while,
Now tedious seems the bill
And far-fetched every smile.

Now life but dull appears,
Dreary and commonplace,
Then sorrow brings the tears
Or laughter lights the face;
But still the good act lives
After the curtain's fall,
And what was splendid gives
Rich beauty to it all.

LOVE AND SCHOOL DAYS.
Should love-making at co-educational institutions be encouraged or merely tolerated? There seems to be a chance for an argument. One prominent educator expresses the belief that students may run their affairs of the heart and of the head as a matched team. They can become engaged in their school days and plan their matrimonial career while still studying together at college. It might tend to help each in shaping life's program. If the girl is strong for mathematics and commercial law, the boy can take up domestic economy and become the housekeeper. The woman may be worth more than the man in the business world. If the pupils become engaged in their college days, they can thrash over their finances and responsibilities together and determine what part each should strive to play in the drama of life. There is some meat in this argument, but if the university announces that love is going to be in the curriculum most of the pupils would be apt to specialize in this branch to the exclusion of other training.—Los Angeles Times.

Getting Her Own Back.
A woman entered a theater and happened to take a seat in front of a newly married couple. She was scarcely seated before they began making remarks about her.

Her last year's hat and cloak were criticised with more or less giggling on the bride's part, and there is no telling what might have come next if the woman had not put a stop to the conversation by a bit of clever strategy.

She turned her head, noticed that the bride was considerably older than the bridegroom, and in smooth tones said:
"Madame, will you please ask your son to remove his feet from the back of my chair?"—Tit Bits.

Good Excuse.
Jack and Mary had just been to the grown-up's church for the first time. A day or two afterward they were found in the nursery whispering audibly to each other.

"What are you children doing?" their nurse asked.

"We're playing church," replied Jack.

"But you shouldn't whisper in church," admonished nurse.

"Oh, we're the choir," said Mary.—Christian Advocate.

COMMUNITY CHEST OF OAKLAND NEEDS $100,000 BEFORE SUNDAY

BIG JOB FACED BY WORKERS

Failure to Make Good Will Brand Oakland As First to Fall Behind On Initial Attempt to Regulate Charity

One hundred thousand dollars before the end of the week. This is the task of the Community Chest campaign workers and must be accomplished if Oakland is to attain its goal in its first Community Chest campaign. Failure to raise the money, it is pointed out, will brand the city as one of the first in the country to fall behind upon its initial Community Chest effort and civic workers as well as Community Chest workers are being asked to lend assistance.

"Oakland is on trial and its reputation is resting in the hands of those who, during the coming days, decide to give, not to give, or to increase their subscriptions to the Community Chest," declared W. W. Garthwaite, chairman of the Community Chest organization. "For the first time in its history Oakland is attaining national recognition as a city of enterprise. Today it stands third in the list of fastest growing cities in the United States."

This tangible evidence of activity is attracting outside capital to the city. From a business point of view, Oakland is the first big, united community effort, has fallen by the wayside. The success of the Community Chest campaign is not merely the concern of the Community Chest workers and the Community Chest organization. It is equally the concern of everyone who has the best interests of Oakland at heart.

HELPING CHEST IS DUTY. "It should not be necessary to appeal to the business aspect of the Community Chest. The appeal of the hundreds of unfortunate men and women children and little babies who cannot help themselves should find sufficient response in the generous hearts of the people of Oakland. If you believe that there is a responsibility upon the strong to care for the less fortunate, it becomes a duty to participate in the Community Chest."

"As the directors, day by day, watch the contributions and the lack of contributions, we cannot refrain from calling to mind two of the subscriptions received in this campaign. Out at the Salvation Army Maternity Home, where the highest salary paid is only $350 a year, we received a contribution of $10. These people at the home day by day come in contact with those in distress and out of their meager earnings they have given freely. Can it be that the people of Oakland are indifferent?"

"And then again there comes before us the veteran two-cent stamps sent by a veteran at the Soldiers' Home in Napa and his scribbled message that he had stumbled and fallen on his journey through life and that now, in the more fortunate circumstances of the veterans' home, he wanted to do his bit by helping someone less fortunate than he."

TOTAL TO DATE $385,645. At yesterday's luncheon workers turned in a report of $27,140, bringing the campaign total to date up to $385,645.

Following the example set by A. S. Lavenson, Mrs. H. C. Taft and Charles G. Monroe, who increased their previous subscriptions by one-third, a number of those whose names appeared on the list of names given subscribers announced their willingness to increase their contribution. In some instances the increase amounted to as much as 50 per cent.

A number of the business establishments there would go 100 per cent in subscriptions.

The final rally of the workers will take place at the Friday luncheon, after which the campaign will be prosecuted in a smaller but a more intensive way until the goal is attained.

How the Fairies Are Ferried at Mills
 DOROTHY LECKENBY (standing), and MARY McCANDLESS, seniors at Mills College, as two of the fairies in the Irish pageant to be presented on Lake Aliso as part of this year's commencement celebration.

MILLS STUDENTS WILL GIVE PLAY NEAR LAKE ALISO

An Irish pageant on the shores of Lake Aliso is to form the principal feature of the celebration of commencement this year by Mills College students. Rehearsals for the pageant are now under way.

The pageant was written by Leonard Glenn, a sophomore student registered from Spokane, Wash., and will be presented by members of the senior class Saturday afternoon, May 12.

The pageant deals with the supposed release of the "four people" arrival to dance at the lake's brim. They expect there the old legend of the fairies and of the breaking of the spell over her by means of a leaf of shamrock. More than 100 young women will take part in the pageant.

STRINGHAM NOT OPPOSED BY J. K. FISK

One Defeated Candidate for Mayor of Berkeley Will Not Join in the Contest Proposed by Atty. Fauser

BERKELEY, May 3.—Plans of Joseph Fauser, Oakland attorney living at the Hotel Clayton, Berkeley, to contest the election of Frank D. Stringham as mayor of the college city, will not be aided by James K. Fisk, defeated candidate or leaders in the All-Berkeley league which opposed Stringham.

Fisk, in extending congratulations to Stringham yesterday, declared that he was satisfied with the outcome of the election and would do nothing to place obstacles in the way of the new administration. "Chas. H. Smith, president of the All-Berkeley league, made a similar statement."

FAUSER TO PROCEED. Fauser declares, however, that sufficient protests have reached him to warrant his instituting action against Stringham, and states that definite steps will be taken within the next few days to bring the question of the legality of the election before the courts.

POLICE TO SEEK RAISE. Following the victory gained by the Berkeley firemen at the polls on Tuesday, action which will give the members of the college city police department the same proportionate salary increases is expected by the city council shortly. The firemen's new salary schedule will become effective July 1 and will give all members of the department, with the exception of the chief, a wage increase of one dollar a day. Firemen entering the department as substitutes will now receive $150 monthly instead of $120. While members of the Berkeley police department did not officially enter the campaign they were assured by city officials that favorable action on the part of voters on the firemen's proposal would mean salary increases for them.

Berkeley's preferential voting plan inaugurated at Tuesday's election resulted in less than 10 per cent of the voters casting secret choice ballots, according to estimates of Miss Hanna, of that number it is declared that fully 50 per cent did not understand the voting system and their ballots were discarded. As a result second choice voting in Berkeley was declared to be negligible in its value in determining the results for several offices for which the contest was close.

Man Prefers Other Women, Wife Sues

Indue familiarity with women guests in their home and admitted association with other women outside of the home are charged against James H. McCarty, employee of a San Francisco electric railway and supply company, in a suit for divorce and custody of the children and $100 a month alimony, filed by Mrs. Cora D. McCarty. The children are Kenneth, aged 11, and Mary, aged 7. They were married in Oakland, March 21, 1908, and separated April 21, 1923.

McCarty was absent from home and admitted he had been with another woman for several months prior to her business, the wife avers.

NEW GEMS by O'HENRY

A YEAR'S SUPPLY
 He was one of the city's wealthiest men, but he made no ostentatious display of his wealth. A little, thin, poorly clad old man stood looking in the window of the restaurant at the good things to eat. The man approached and touched her on the shoulder.

"What is your name, little girl?" he asked.
 "Sue Tompkins, sir," she answered looking up at him with great, haunting, blue eyes.

There was something in her pleading innocent voice that stirred a strange feeling in the millionaire's heart. Still it may have been imagination.
 "Have you a father?" he asked.
 "Oh, no, sir, mother has only me to support."

"Is your mother very poor?"
 "Oh, yes, sir."
 "What is your mother's name?"
 "Susan, sir. Just like mine."

"Tell me, child," said the wealthy man, "what is your aim in an agency of suspense?"
 "Has your mother a wart on her nose and does her breath smell of onions?"
 "Yes, sir."
 "The millionaire covered his face with his hands for a moment and then said in a trembling voice:
 "Little one, your mother and I once knew each other. You have her voice, her hair, and her eyes. If it had not been for a misunderstanding—perhaps—but that is all past now."

The man unbuttoned his shirt and showed the millionaire a small, round, red mark on his chest.
 "That is the mark of a woman's love," he said.

S. F. Bail Bond Broker and Nephew, Harry Rice, Are Placed On Trial in U. S. Court for Booze Selling

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—Pete McDonough, well known bail bond broker and saloon keeper, and his nephew, Harry Rice, were placed on trial before Federal Judge John Partridge, charged with violating the prohibition laws. Coincident with their appearance in court, came the announcement from United States Chief Special Agent William J. Burns that all jurors and witnesses would be guarded against possible interference throughout the proceedings.

Judge Partridge quickly overruled a demurrer to the information argued on behalf of the defendants by Attorney Marshall Woodworth. The United States attorney elected to try the information in which Pete McDonough and Rice are the defendants and not that involving also the former's brother Tom, who was present in the court room.

Chief Probation Agent Samuel Rutter and U. S. Attorney John T. Williams continued today their investigations into charges by Police Sergeant Maurice J. O'Callaghan that Lieutenant of Police Richard Foley, his superior, had threatened to "shoot" him if O'Callaghan's son testified against the McDonoughs. Maurice J. O'Callaghan, the son, is the agent upon whose affidavit Rice's home was raided and quantities of liquor seized, according to the charges.

YOU MUST KEEP COOL in a situation like this, but it's not always possible, in spite of the countless acres of ice. This photo shows the Coast Guard cutter Bear in the ice during one of her northern trips.

GERALDINE FASHIONS THE HOME

Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World

WHERE DID YOU GET YOUR THOUGHTS?

WHY do you think the thoughts you think or feel the things you feel? Do you approve of this or disapprove of that? How much of your philosophy have you built yourself? How many of your convictions have you fought for? How many of your prejudices can you logically explain or sanely vindicate?

Did you ever take stock of yourself and determine how much of your mental and emotional equipment you have rightfully earned, and how much is not yours to inherit, borrowed or stolen? Such a stock taking might surprise you.

We're apt to be very sure of our own individuality—to feel that we are highly original and possess unbounded initiative. Yet on examination it will be found that all of us are more or less "Berkeley" going to think twice before he writes again of his Wonder Mate and how she feeds the house on 75 cents a month, more or less. Here's another household on the offensive, with a mighty line letter. As a haughty slinger myself, I'm here to state that good Berkeley's budget listens to me like a Classic Myth.

Dear Geraldine: Can I have my say about this budget business, please? Some one who signs himself "Berkeley" has written to you about the way his wife manages his thirty dollars a week. Is it supposed to be a joke? I know it cannot be true. I have been married ten years and she always had to manage on a small salary and have the same amount in my family as he has in his—man, wife and two children. I don't waste any food, plan my meals ahead, and don't buy any extravagant out-of-season food. My food bill is not $6 a week, and neither is any other family's here in Oakland or Berkeley either, for that matter—it is IMPOSSIBLE to make $6 buy meat, groceries, vegetables and milk for a week.

INDEX

Number and classification appear in numerical order, and all related classes are grouped together. For example, All advertising of Rooms To Let is numbered 20 to 29. The numbers appear on the headings, so if you seek room and board look through the "20s." "Board" is No. 25, and always follows "Housekeeping Rooms" (24). Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A".

X indicates balance-point

Note the convex molding of the chest—a feature of the highest price merchant-tailored garment. Shaped by hand in Foreman and Clark factories.

The smoothest sleeve in the world. Hangs right because it is set right into a "contracted sleeve—head." Ask us.

Button holes. We cut them by hand—sew them by hand, finish them by hand.

A pocket flap and pocket reinforced three ways against sagging, bulging or tearing.

The Foreman and Clark finished coat edge—not thick and bulky, but slender and strong.

You can't change north on the compass—and you can't change the balance point on a suit! Take off your coat as you read. Learn something new about your suit. Right under the collar, at the top of the shoulder seam—is the vital point in the drape, the swing, the hang, and the entire fit of the coat. Put your hand under the collar—as shown in this photograph. Test your own coat for balance. If it is Foreman and Clark, it will hang straight and clean from balance point to bottom. Read now what this means when you buy!—and when we build!

Buy a coat with balance and you have a coat with style. If a coat is balanced, it's right—if it isn't—it's wrong—in spite of all the good tailoring, the fine fabric, the smart lines that may go into it. Get this point (check it with some high priced merchant tailor if you know one who will talk plain)—a designer can change any point in the pattern of a suit except the balance point. He can widen or narrow the lapels, he can taper or broaden the sleeve, he can shorten or lengthen the front—but if he moves the balance point as little as a sixteenth of an inch—the coat will never be right!

Every Foreman & Clark Garment hand balanced in Foreman & Clark factories [NEW] [YORK]

Foreman & Clark clothes are balanced by hand in Foreman & Clark factories—by Foreman & Clark tailors. Each garment hangs right as long as you wear it, because it is balanced right when we build it. Only three other makers of clothing in America (producing the highest-priced garments on the ready-made market) balance a coat as we do. We cut fourteen costs out of building and selling you a suit—we can afford to put fourteen more things into the suit. Balance is one of them. 13 to 16-ounce virgin wool fabrics—from America's foremost textile mills—is another. Style is another—designed by graduates—from merchant tailoring who do nothing for us but draw models and patterns, right on 5th Avenue—months ahead of the clothing industry. We pay no middleman to buy and sell these clothes—we pay no selling staff from our factories to go on the road. These clothes are built for you—shipped to you—and sold direct to you from our factories at factory prices in Foreman & Clark upstairs stores from coast to coast!

Our interest in you does not cease when you make your purchase."

FOREMAN & CLARK

You will find those binding statements printed on the guarantee, in the pocket of the suit or topcoat.

This guarantee has no time limit or any other limit. It is good any time—any place. It is the only guarantee of its kind in the entire clothing world.

Pay only 1
small profit
instead of 4
big profits:

In your newspaper lately and 'pet' magazine, you've seen a lot of business writers preach about "the cost of distribution." And probably you passed it by as a dry subject for the experts to argue! But how dry is this?—The cost of distribution on an ordinary suit of clothes costs you anywhere from $10 to $30! That dry-sounding phrase covers a multitude of sins—more so in the clothing industry than in almost any other! Foreman and Clark have smashed the cost of clothing distribution in six separate ways.

- Our own factories cut out:
- 1—Maker's selling expense
 - 2—Traveling salesmen's commissions
 - 3—Middleman and jobber
 - 4—Ground floor rent
 - 5—Expensive trimmings
 - 6—Big retail profit

You pay one small profit here instead of four big profits! You get one big value from one big firm instead of four empty thank-yous from the maker, the middleman, the jobber and the merchant!

Trade Upstairs and Save $10.

Putting more features of fine tailoring (see photograph above) into each separate suit or topcoat—is one thing! Putting a bigger stock of new models on this big upstairs floor, weeks ahead of the clothing industry—is another thing! Foreman & Clark do both. You will find here twice as many new styles as any other clothing institution in the city offers. When a man once buys Foreman & Clark clothes—every previous conception of clothing methods ends! You are dealing here with the largest makers-and-retailers of men's clothing in America—you'll realize that in a dozen different ways! Tremendous forces and facilities—not mere words—are behind your guaranteed saving of $10.
